The public is invited to an open house on July 15th to see the renovations.

Not much to report. Used to be engineering director and involved in capital projects, but now maintenance in the City of Milwaukie.

Dave Ashenberg, business owner on the corner of King road and 42nd, is requesting to remove option to a turn left turn onto King road at that corner. Paul shared that this is a design issue that engineers would need to address.

There was group discussion that it is an awkward and confusing corner, but the current design is working there have not been any accidents yet. The group agreed that Ron should follow up with Dave and continue to watch and discuss the traffic on this corner.

Formation of Arts Committee, Ron Palmer

Ron would like to start an arts committee and nominates Nancy to head up the committee. Most of her background is in theater arts, but believes there is more art in the projects are possible.

Shelia Shaw, principle of Ardenwald sees lots of opportunities for school and community involvement. One example would be tiles the children have created for the building that may need to be removed with the new school building. Could they be used in the neighborhood somewhere? Nancy and Ron will continue brainstorming the arts committee this summer.

Portland Officer Report, Heidi Helwig

Heidi shared pictures of adorable baby Palmer Jean.

Although she has been out on maternity leave, she pulled the crime stats. One crime on 38th and Crystal Springs one car. She provided a handout on graffiti because it is becoming an issue in Sellwood. Similar information can be found at www.portlandonline.com/oni — click on “Report a graffiti problem” in the left column.

A registered sex offender was caught in women’s clothing, in the women’s restroom at Mt. Scott community center. He lives in Gladstone and most likely traveling through Milwaukie. His photo and profile was handed out. To see profile and photo go to: <http://sexoffenders.oregon.gov> — click on “agree” to the conditions of use statement and search for “Thomas Lee Benson” at zip code “97027”.

Milwaukie Officer Report, Kevin Krebs

Officer Krebs also shared that he has background with Thomas Lee Benson and does believe he is an active problem.

How long can car be sat and not moved: 24 hours. But intended for broken down and abandon cars. Please don’t want to abuse the law. Too many neighbors tabuse this and call on neighbor’s cars parked in the streets.

Krebs was not working the day of the ammonia spill, but the response went smoothly. Milwaukie used their code red system for the first time. When there is an emergency, the computer calls everyone in the area automatically with a recording. To find out if you are on the list go to the City website.

New Ardenwald School update, Gary Kryszak

Gary Kryszak, capital project manager, presented the layout of the new school. Key points of design include:

- Existing building will stay in operation until the new building is complete since new school will be built behind the current school —toward the back of lot.
- Right now the parking slightly exceeds city code, but working with city.
- Play fields as current drawn will be reduced to preserving more.
- Design accommodates growth from the current 300 students to 550 students.
- Mahlum architect is dedicated to honor the concept of the current building exterior with possibly a brick entry façade and varied roofline though out.

- Entrance will not be flat roof. Back with classrooms will most likely be flat roof.
 - CMGC process gets contractor involved with architect during design process.
 - Hire contractor this August. Break ground this time next year.
 - Fall 2009 new school will open. Question about security in terms of lighting outside. Milwaukie emphasizes keeping lighting low for neighborhoods.
 - Not seeking LEED certification, but using as an outline for smart building.
- Natural light and compact building. Open windows – no air condition.

More information will be available in July on the district website. Ron requested that they attend the September meeting to present to the larger group.
